THE PROBLEM

BE is exposed, the numbers back it up

FazWaz is expanding aggressively. Bali Home Immo has real digital infrastructure behind it. BE still has no formal training system, new agents learn by shadowing whoever's around, and there's no repeatable process for turning one good salesperson into a second one. None of this is anyone's fault, BE grew fast on relationships and referrals. Relationships alone don't hold up against firms that no longer need them.

The listing side is diluted too, too many properties on the site, no consistent quality bar, no process for what BE actually agrees to sell. As zoning and licensing rules keep tightening and the market fills with agencies moving volume over quality, an undifferentiated inventory stops being a strength and starts being a liability.

YEAR	TOTAL COMMISSION	NOTE
2023	$1.00M
2024	$1.91M	Prior peak. The jump from 2023 was a one-off, not a trend to extrapolate.
2025	$1.89M	Flat against 2024.
2026	$1.19M	Pace, annualized from 7 months.

2026's pace, if it holds, is a real step down, worth confirming together rather than treating as fact.

WHAT'S ACTUALLY MISSING

Not sales talent. The system underneath it, training, process, structure, and a second revenue line beyond one-time commission. That's what the next page proposes to build.

THE FIX

What closes the gap

Seven pieces, each aimed directly at what's on the previous page. Not new activity, the same market BE already sells in, run with fewer gaps.

01 SOPs for the sales team

02 Training and onboarding systems

03 Organizational structure and team scalability

04 Marketing strategy and execution that supports Bali Exception's broader vision and growth

05 Business development for new entities

06 Property management growth program

Agents earn a recurring 10% of BE's management fee on villas they bring under management

07 Overseeing the team, and the business, together with Typhaine

08 A listing selection process, niching into higher-quality inventory

Fewer, better villas instead of taking on everything that comes in, a real bar for what BE agrees to sell

WHY I CAN BUILD THIS

I've built hiring frameworks, training SOPs, and a scale pipeline from zero before, opening multiple retail locations from a single-site operation. Same mechanics, applied here: structured onboarding instead of shadowing, a repeatable process instead of relying on whoever's free, systemized lead follow-up instead of ad hoc.

COMPENSATION

A floor, not a ceiling

This pays for time that doesn't look like a sale: in the office, training the team, building what's on the previous page, not out on the floor showing villas. The point isn't less production, it's multiplying what the whole team produces instead of just my own. Commission and profit share reward that on top of it.

COMPONENT	STRUCTURE
Base salary	$70K/year gross, fixed, paid monthly regardless of production. The floor.
Personal commission	Standard agent rate on deals closed personally. The salary acts as a draw: threshold is 50% of base salary ($35K/year). Commission below it is already covered, commission above it pays out on top. Example below.
Profit share	Tracks whatever percentage of the company I own that year (see next page), applied to Bali Exception's net profit. Cash, paid annually, on top of equity.

EXAMPLE, HOW THE THRESHOLD WORKS

At 12 personal deals/year (~$300K average sale, 5% commission, standard agent rate): $300,000 × 5% × 50% = $7,500/deal, ×12 = $90,000 in personal commission for the year.

Threshold is 50% of the $70K salary, $35,000. Since $90K clears $35K, the salary is paid as normal, plus the $55K above threshold, $125K between salary and commission alone. Below threshold, the $70K floor holds, nothing clawed back.

2025 NET PROFIT BASELINE (ESTIMATE, LET'S CONFIRM TOGETHER)

~$558,000 company-side commission ($944,896) plus legal revenue (~$80K), minus overhead (~$467K). Built from Matthieu's own numbers, not yet checked against the books. Used as the profit share basis.

EQUITY, EARNED NOT GRANTED

20% combined, vested over 4 years

10% from Typhaine, 10% from Raphael. Even vesting, 5% a year, against a named KPI set reviewed jointly each year-end. Not a flat grant on day one. The profit share on the previous page tracks this same percentage each year, it's not a separate number, it's what I actually own, nothing more.

OWNERSHIP BECOMES CASH THROUGH A BUYOUT

Equity vests as a stake in the company, it doesn't pay out on its own, the profit share on the previous page is what does that annually. To turn the stake itself into cash: a put option lets me require Typhaine and Raphael to buy back my vested shares, paid in installments rather than a lump sum, not exercisable before Year 4-5, and priced against a multi-year EBITDA average rather than a single year's snapshot. They hold the mirror right if I leave.

YEAR	VESTS	DELIVERY GATE
Y1	5%	SOPs documented, training framework live, org structure v1 agreed.
Y2	5%	Training rolled out to the full team, Lombok open as the second entity, digital and marketing systems live.
Y3	5%	Org structure proven at scale across two entities, systems running without me as the bottleneck.
Y4	5%	Systems fully embedded as how BE runs, third entity or equivalent.

Each gate is something built and verifiable, not a number exposed to market conditions outside my control. The growth case on the next page is the business argument for why this is worth it, it's not what triggers vesting.

NEW ENTITIES KEPT SEPARATE

Lombok already has its own negotiation in progress. Any future entity gets its own stake when it's actually built, this equity track covers core BE only.

THE RETURN

What this builds toward

Fixing what's on page one pays for itself. Here's where steady growth off a real baseline takes commission over four years.

YEAR	TOTAL COMMISSION	NOTE
Baseline	$1.60M	3-year average, 2023 to 2025, not the exceptional 2024-2025 plateau alone.
Y1	$1.68M	+5%.
Y2	$1.76M	+5%.
Y3	$1.85M	+5%.
Y4	$1.95M	+5%. Back to roughly where 2024-2025 peaked, on steady growth this time, not a one-off jump.

Baseline is a 3-year blend, not last year's number. 2024 and 2025 were likely an exceptional two-year window off 2023's $1.00M, not BE's normal run rate. 5% a year from there is deliberately conservative. This is the business case for the fix, separate from what actually triggers vesting on the previous page.

HOW WE GET THERE, AND WHAT'S NOT COUNTED YET

Systems. Training and org structure (scope 01 to 03) cut ramp time. Marketing (scope 04) rebuilds a lead flow that's currently soft.

Expansion. BD for new entities (scope 05), Lombok and whatever comes after, opens revenue in markets core BE doesn't touch today. Kept out of the table above, each new entity carries its own separate equity and economics.

Property management. Scope 06 isn't in the table above either, it's a separate recurring fee that compounds as villas are added, and doesn't reset every January like sales commission does. Portfolio size and fee, still to be set together.

WHAT THIS SOLVES

For Bali Exception.

- A real answer to other competitors, not just relationship-based selling
- A training system that scales past "shadow whoever's around"
- A tested path to a new office without Typhaine or Raphael running it personally
- Keeps five years of market knowledge and client relationships inside BE

1. Confirm the numbers together. Overhead, legal revenue, and a real 2026 mid-year figure, this baseline is a starting point, not a final claim.
2. Agree the details. Commission threshold, exact KPI targets, the dispute mechanism, and Raphael's involvement.
3. Confirm in writing by August 31. The specific numbers above are still open, but I need to know whether this direction works in principle, and by when, to plan the rest of the year properly.

This document is a starting point for discussion between partners, not a final demand.
